What is the difference in their functionality? A: They are not the same. The money-convert project does not use the Financial Services Agency; rather, it simply converts Japanese yen into GBP using the method by Sir Michael Rake and Susan Clough of the Bank of England and by Hao Yang of the University of California. The currency-convert project does use the FSA for converting Japanese yen into either GBP or EU currencies. The FCA (Financial Conduct Authority) in the UK has a website which details the conversion methods that are used by currency-convert. A: After a few hours research I found a solution. I was using old version of internet download manager (but this one have working keygen too). new keygen idm 6.30 have "crack version" too. I've solved this issue by using this: (i've uninstalled current old idm and installed the new one) Open your cmd and go to this folder. "C:\Program Files\Internet Download Manager" Then open this zip file (Crack version) and double click this file (Setup.exe) Now follow the steps in installation screen to finish. Amid a growing sense of pessimism over the direction of DC, Superman and Wonder Woman have been granted a second feature film. The untitled project, which will be directed by Matt Reeves, will be released on digital platforms, Warner Bros announced on Tuesday, and will be released in cinemas on June 14, 2020. After the franchise's first feature, 2015's Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice, Warner Bros revived DC's classic comic book characters and last year released Wonder Woman, an origin story that starred Gal Gadot. That film grossed $821m worldwide. Reeves made his debut with 2017's zombie classic, Dawn of the Dead, and is due to direct this summer's third instalment of James Bond's 007 franchise, You Only Live Twice. The news comes after Man Of Steel director, Zach Snyder, left the DC Universe during pre-production of his own Justice League movie. Warner Bros is keeping the project on track with Snyder helming a standalone Batman film, which is slated for release in 2021. DC's standalone comics movie franchise is also rife with uncertainty, with both Aquaman and The Flash director, The Batman and Wonder Woman director Patty Jenkins, walking away from projects. Warner Bros also recently lost Star Wars: The Last Jedi director, Rian Johnson, and DC Universe's solo Green Lantern film, starring Ryan Reynolds, is set to be released in 2020. "Although it is exciting to have two new movies to look forward to, the uncertainty surrounding the DC Comics cinematic universe is not lost on us," said Greg Silverman, Warner Bros president of creative development and worldwide production. "We remain committed to taking creative risks, and these films will offer new and welcome divers 648931e174

I made the following shortcode for the Wordpress built in shortcodes feature. function shortcode_prefix($atts, $content = null) { extract(shortcode_atts(array('site_id' => '1', 'title' => 'Test', 'id' => '10'), $atts)); // Test -> Toggle Title of test page redirects to home $title = get_the_title(); if($title == "Test"){ wp_redirect(get_option('site_url').'/', 301); } $atts = apply_filters('the_content', $atts); $output = $content; $output = str_replace("[shortcode-prefix]", $output, $content); return $output; } add_shortcode('shortcode-prefix','shortcode_prefix'); As you can see it redirects from / to /. On my website this works, however in the other website's case I get a 301 redirect to the home with the url: www.other-site.com/ Why am I getting this issue? A: You are getting a redirect because your site is down (or at least just not responding to requests). Since you get a 301, that means the request was transferred (moved or redirected) to a different resource which is the canonical "home" of your site. And since you expect that site is still working, that means you
